REDS WAR ON FINLAND WITH AIR, LAND AND SEA FIGHTING

HULL RUSHES WAR REPORTS TO ROOSEVELT

Secretary Meets President at Station With Details on Russian Invasion.

TURN ASIDE MEDIATION

Red Official Tells American Government There's No Need for Intervention.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull began a conference on the outbreak of the Russo-Finnish war today immediately upon the chief executive's arrival in the capital from Warm Springs, Ga.

Hull, whose last-minute efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement of the dispute between the Soviet Union and the small Baltic nation, appeared grave as he met the president at Union station.

Others on hand were Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, and Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war.

Almost simultaneously with the president's arrival, it became known that a Russian official had advised this government that he saw no need for it to use its good offices for a peaceful solution of the dispute.

Finland, on the other hand, advised that it would welcome the exercise of good offices, it was reported to the state department by H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, American minister to Finland.

Among problems which faced the president as he returned to his desk after his Thanksgiving day visit to Warm Springs was the question of whether this government should take any further step in connection with the Russian-Finnish situation, following up that taken yesterday by Hull.

There also was the question of whether the chief executive would apply the neutrality act by making a formal finding of the existence of a state of war between those two nations.

State department officials said all cables regarding the Baltic war had been conveyed immediately.

Ashland Highway Office Probing Loss of Asphalt

ASHLAND—State highway officials today continued their investigation of the release of 5,000 gallons of asphalt emulsion through a valve from a tank in the department's building in north Ashland.

The discovery was made yesterday by workmen when they found the warehouse floor covered with the emulsion as they arrived for work, but it was not reported.

Officials, who are making their own investigation, said they did not know how entrance was gained to the building or the reason or persons responsible. They estimated the loss at $300.

Other tanks containing emulsion were not disturbed, they said. The emulsion, used in the construction of highways, hardened almost immediately, and it was necessary to chop it from the floor.

CHICKEN LAYS EGG WITHIN EGG Regularly For Farmer.

PERU, Ind.—(AP)—An egg within an egg is being laid about every third or fourth day by Farmer Clayton Wideman's white Leghorn hen.

Both the outer and inner eggs are perfect, Wideman says. The inner egg has a hard shell. The eggs have both yolk and white.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Angelo Di Gregorio, 38, was killed last night and another passenger was critically injured when an automobile struck a street car safety zone stanchion. Police said the 16-year-old driver of the car fled.

Kuhn Locked Up, Waits on Prison Term

Bund Leader Convicted, Faces Maximum of 30 Years Imprisonment.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Fritz Kuhn, the Nazi fuhrer for the United States, was locked in a tombs prison cell today and enemies of his movement saw in his conviction of larceny a body blow to American nazism.

Anti-nazis expressed themselves privately. They gathered around Prosecutor Herman J. McCarthy, assistant district attorney, when the verdict was returned last night, to congratulate him.

The jury had found him guilty of grand larceny and forgery in his handling of the funds of the German-American bund.

He received the verdict with a poker face and marched off stolidly to jail to await his sentence, which Judge James G. Wallace announced would be imposed Tuesday. He is liable to 30 years' imprisonment.

The 12 business men of the jury deliberated eight and a half hours before deciding that he had stolen $1,217 from the bund. The original indictment had accused him of thefts totaling more than $14,000, but two of the counts were severed before the trial began and Judge Wallace threw out five others for lack of evidence.

Convicted on All Five.

Kuhn was convicted of the five remaining counts. Under the first two he was guilty of first and second degree larceny, in taking $717 from the bund treasury to pay for moving the furniture of his "golden angel," Mrs. Florence Camp, across the country. She testified that she repaid $600 which the state contended he had pocketed.

He was guilty of second degree larceny in embezzling a $500 legal fee which he had pretended to pay Attorney James D. C. Murray and two counts of forgery in concealing this theft with false entries in the bunds accounts.

The Camp affair was the highlight of the trial. Kuhn testified that he had paid to move the blond divorcee's furniture from Los Angeles to New York and later to Cleveland because she was a bund sympathizer.

SPLIT AHEAD?

Pittman Indicates He Favors Severing Red Relations.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee indicated today that congress might be asked to pass on the question of severing diplomatic relations with Russia.

Making it plain that he was speaking as an individual legislator and not for the executive branch, he criticized severely what he said had been a recent turn in Russian foreign policy away from the peace doctrine advocated by Maxim Litvinoff, former foreign minister.

Pittman's views were made public after Premier Molotov of Russia, in a broadcast announcing severance of Soviet relations with Finland, had indicated rejection of this government's offer of its "good offices" to help bring about a peaceful settlement.

HITS TAMPERING

Griffith Orders Discharge of Six Akron Election Workers.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Charging ballot tampering in the recent election, Secretary of State Earl Griffith today ordered the Summit county election board to discharge six booth officials in Ward Two, Precinct P in the city of Akron.

Griffith asserted that a vote recount and further investigation revealed that at least 35 majority and city ticket ballots had been tampered with.

CONSTABLE HUNTED

MARIETTA—(AP)—John A. Nunn, 29, constable-elect was a fugitive from justice today after he escaped from Deputy Sheriff Dayton Goddard. Nunn was held in jail awaiting grand jury action on a burglary charge.

Earl L. Johnson, state director of aeronautics, addressing the annual meeting of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association last night disclosed that Mansfield was one of the three cities in Ohio selected as training centers for student fliers under the Civil Aeronautics Authority civilian pilot training program. Johnson is shown in the center above with Norman Kann, left, elected president of the chapter last night to succeed Dr. L. D. Bonar, right, who has headed the association for the past year. Kann, secretary of the chapter for the past year, is secretary-treasurer of the American Steel Abrasive company at Galion.

HEARS JENKINS PLANS RETURN

Columbus Reports Say Prison Farm Head Wants Job Back; Fight Brewing.

An indication that Thomas C. Jenkins, now on a 90-day leave of absence as superintendent of the London Prison farm, plans to return to his post Dec. 5, aroused speculation today in Columbus.

A United Press dispatch today indicated that if Jenkins decides to return, new opposition may result in the state department of welfare where Jenkins had been the subject of ouster rumors prior to his request for a leave of absence.

Jenkins was formerly superintendent of the Reformatory here. Dispatches from the capital today quoted Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood as saying that "it looks like" Jenkins wants to resume his duties when his leave expires.

The dispatches said Sherwood did not indicate what course he would follow in the event the expectation is fulfilled. W. F. Amrine is now acting superintendent of the prison farm and the United Press said it was known that Sherwood wants him to continue at that post.

Prior to granting Jenkins a leave of absence, following several escapes from the "honor" camp in August, there were reported rumors of possible action by Sherwood to displace him.

WESTINGHOUSE PAYS DIVIDEND

Directors Vote $1 Per Share Payment on Common Stock.

A dividend of $1 per share on the common stock of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, payable Dec. 11, was declared today by the company's board of directors.

Payable to stockholders on record Dec. 11, the dividend will bring earnings paid this year on common stock to $3.50. Dividends totaling $3.50 have already been paid in 1939 on preferred stock.

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, said the company's business is "excellent with incoming orders holding up well."

FAMILIES FLEE

Leave Apartments After Blaze Breaks Out In Rocky River.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Eight families were forced to flee their apartments when flames swept through the first floor of a two-story store-apartment building in suburban Rocky River early today.

Fire Chief Clarence Anderson estimated damage at $10,000. The flames did not reach the second floor, he said, but heavy clouds of smoke made the apartments untenable.

Business Pick-up Seen in Soaring Bank Clearings

Spurred by the city's business and industrial pick-up in the past month, Mansfield bank clearings for November zoomed $1,062,000 ahead of figures for the same month last year.

Clearings so far this year total $78,642,728, and with a month remaining in 1939, the total is already more than $5,000,000 ahead of figures for all of 1938.

For the month which ends today clearings amounted to $7,508,885 as compared with $6,445,904 in November, 1938. Ned Brooks, Clearing House association secretary, reported.

November was the third consecutive month and the eighth this year in which clearings were above $7,000,000. Every month last year was below $6,775,000.

CO-ED JAILED

Shoots Colorado Grigger Who Sought to Break Romance.

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—(AP)—A Colorado State college co-ed fired a bullet into the chest of her football-playing sweetheart because, Deputy District Attorney Winton M. Ault said, they had reached "the parting of the way."

Twenty-one-year-old Walter (Bud) Lyons, 195-pound full-back on the Aggie team, is in a critical condition at the Larimer county hospital.

He was struck by one of three shots fired yesterday by Lois Jeanne Vannorsdel, 19, a sophomore with whom he had been keeping company for eight months, Ault said. The shooting occurred at the girl's apartment.

Ault said the motive for the shooting involved "the old saying about a woman scorned."

Kentuckian, 28, Found Dead With Bullet Near Heart.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—George Volz, cafe owner, was held on an open charge today after Paul Obryan, 28, was found dead outside the cafe with a bullet wound near his heart.

Police said Obryan had been drinking and engaged in an argument with Volz.

County Farmers To Get 'Better Chance' Under New Crop Plans

The federal government's crop program for 1940 will give Richland county farmers a better chance to earn some of Uncle Sam's $725,000,000 crop control money than they have had in the past, crop officials said today in announcing an outline of the new program.

Most of the county's farmers are in the small farmer class and the new federal farm plan is designed to help them and make all farmers conserve and rebuild their soil to be eligible for government payments.

Principal changes in the 1940 program are a boost in the per unit payments for soil-building practices from $1.25 to $1.50, an increase of one cent per bushel

PICKS CITY AS CIVILIAN PILOT TRAINING SITE

State Aeronautics Director Names Mansfield as One of 3 Centers in Ohio.

10 TO BE TRAINED HERE

Tells of Selection Under Civil Air Authority at Meeting of Aero Chapter.

Mansfield is one of the three cities in Ohio selected as the training center for civilians under the Civil Aeronautics Authority pilot training program, Earl L. Johnson, state director of aeronautics, told the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association at its annual meeting last night.

Johnson said that Cleveland and Toledo were the other two cities he had named to participate in the aviation program in the state.

Ten individuals are to be chosen in Mansfield as part of the 30 selected in the three training centers to receive flying instruction under government supervision.

Part of U. S. Program.

The program, Johnson announced, is part of the government's plan to train several thousand civilian pilots throughout the nation and will supplement a college training program recently set up in the nation.

"Mansfield has been chosen for one of the training centers along with Cleveland and Toledo because of this group," he told more than 70 members of the association who had gathered at the Schwarz tavern on Lexington avenue road for the annual meeting and election of officers.

"The interest shown in aviation in Mansfield was instrumental in its selection," he said. "You have a good live group here to sponsor this program," he explained as he virtually named the organization to take charge of the training here.

STIRS HEARING

Mrs. Roosevelt Appears at Dies Committee Inquiry.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt showed up unexpectedly today at the Dies committee hearing.

Shortly before she arrived acting Chairman Starnes (D., Ala.) told newsmen:

"If she does come I'll invite her to take the witness stand and testify."

The first lady said at a press conference earlier this week that she would be willing to take the committee witness stand if she had any information the committee wanted.

Mrs. Roosevelt entered the hearing room at 11:20 a. m. (EST) and started to take a seat near the door. Acting Chairman Starnes stood up immediately and said he noticed the presence of the first lady of the land and asked her whether she would like to take a place at the committee table.

"I have just come to listen," Mrs. Roosevelt said.

Capital Bombed, Russian Troops Cross Frontier

Finnish Port City In Flames After Bombardment From Air, Sea; Planes Raid Helsinki Twice; Finns Fight Back With Heavy Artillery Fire.

BULLETIN
HELSINKI—(AP)—Russian bombing planes late today set the southwestern section of Helsinki afire and reports said that more than 200 persons had been killed in the raids.

(By Associated Press)
HELSINKI—Soviet Russian troops, warships and bombing planes launched an invasion of Finland early today.

Within a few hours Red army forces had pushed across the Finnish border on the Karelian isthmus north of Leningrad, warplanes had twice bombed Helsinki, the capital, and set the port of Viipuri (Viborg) in flames, and warships had begun seizing Finnish islands in the Gulf of Finland.

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Helsinki said that Finland had declared war on Russia following the invasion.)

Finnish anti-aircraft batteries fought back at the invading bombing planes, which directed their first attack on the capital upon the Malm airport on the outskirts. Later bombs fell in the heart of the city.

Viipuri, 65 miles from the Soviet border, was attacked by warships as well as bombing planes. Sections of the port were in flames. Foreign Minister Eljas Erkkö declared the Russian attack was "the purest aggression imaginable."

"As the reason for the attack," he said, "the pretext was used that we invaded Russian territory and our troops threatened Leningrad. We haven't done anything of the kind."

Attack Comes Quickly.
The triple attack came less than a day after Russia broke off diplomatic relations with Finland, less than two days after she had unilaterally denounced the Finnish-Russian non-aggression pact, less than two months after she had first made territorial demands upon her little neighbor. Finland had refused to yield to Russia, as Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania had before her.

The diet, Finland's one-chamber parliament, was called for a session at 8 p. m. (1 p. m. E.S.T.) to receive a statement from Foreign Minister Eljas Erkkö and to vote confidence in the government.

Officials said the session would (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

PARIS: Daladier Loses In Move To Extend War Time Powers

BULLETIN
PARIS—(AP)—Premier Daladier today won acceptance by the army committee of the chamber of deputies for his demands for powers to rule France by decree for the duration of the war. In the committee's third vote, the premier won 17 votes to 13. At first the committee had declined the measure.

(By Associated Press)
PARIS—The chamber of deputies army committee today voted down Premier Daladier's program for war time decree powers in the form in which it was first presented to parliament.

The firm-jawed premier, however, told the committee flatly that he refused to accept any modification of the project. Efforts were begun immediately to work out a compromise.

The premier encountered this obstacle soon after parliament had convened in special session, the purpose of which was to extend the decree powers of the government and pass on the 1940 budget.

Daladier asked for extension of his powers in order to "win the war."

The committee's vote was 13 to 9 against the premier's measure in its present form, with five abstentions.

MOSCOW: Soviet Government Silent On Invasion Of Finland

(By International News Service)
MOSCOW—Hours after Helsingfors flashed the word that Soviet troops invaded Finnish territory and Russian planes and artillery bombed and shelled the republic's soil, strict silence regarding actual warfare prevailed in the Kremlin today.

(Indeed, a dispatch via Copenhagen said official quarters in Moscow denied all knowledge that Russian troops had crossed the Finnish frontier or that planes had bombed Finnish cities.)

The sole news of a positive nature emanating from Moscow during the afternoon was the announcement that American Charge d'Affaires Thurston delivered to Vladimir Potemkin, foreign vice-commissar, the offer of the American government to use its "good offices" in the Soviet-Finnish quarrel.

Eero Aaro Yrjö Koskunen, Finnish minister to Moscow, and other attaches of the legation, were handed their passports last night

SAVANT CITES HOW WAR MAY AFFECT NATION

Professor Says Influence Here To Depend on Length of Conflict in Europe.

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—American business may be affected in three different ways by the European war, depending largely on its length, according to Dr. George William Dowrie, professor of finance in the Stanford University Graduate School of Business.

Dowrie said there were three schools of thought on the probable duration of the war.

"One school," he said, "believes the war will be ended by Christmas. In that event American business is likely to suffer a reaction from its present improvement."

"A second group believes that the 'phony war' will drag along as it has up to the present time with little important effect on American business."

"The third believes the 'blood bath' threatened by Hitler is due sooner or later, and that if such a conflict is prolonged, there will be a great stimulation of American business—with another depression as an aftermath."

Business Is Wary.

The noted financial authority and author said he believed that American business as a whole is taking every precaution to avoid the errors made during the World war, especially those created by over-expansion of industrial plants, over-borrowing, wild price increases and heavy market speculation.

He pointed out that present stock price indexes are 20 to 50 per cent below industrial production rates—indicating the caution with which investors view the stock market.

Another conservative factor, he continued, is that there are now large world surpluses of food stuffs and raw materials which was not the case in 1914.

HUEY'S SCHOOL GIVEN PURGING

'Hoop-la' Spirit Disappears Under New President of Louisiana State.

(By Associated Press)
BATON ROUGE, La.—Separating Louisiana State university permanently from politics, after a decade's over-exposure, is the big job dumped into the lap of Paul Macaristi Hebert, a boyish, blue-eyed, bespectacled law student, just turned 32.

He has a tough assignment—curbing his alma mater's jag from the rah-rah era that left the institution minus more than $2,000,000.

The Louisiana scandals growing out of irregularities in handling L. S. U.'s funds have dented deeply the university's prestige, but Hebert believes the trouble is perfectly curable, and that the old war skule already is on the road back.

Thus the young man already is making headway. The library is crowded. Students are thumbing textbooks in earnest. They want Phi Beta Kappa recognition and an honor system for examinations.

Even more convincing evidence of a new attitude among the students came recently when a student attempt to force a holiday failed miserably. Few students participated. In the old days, the entire student body responded to similar tactics and succeeded in enforcing their will.

When Huey Long was shot and killed in 1935, he left Dr. James Monroe Smith in charge of the school—a former country school teacher Huey once had described as having "a skin as tough as an elephant."

Following Huey's death, his influence carried on so that students continued receiving full freedom and favor from the politicians.

The climax came swiftly and unexpectedly five months ago. Authorities announced Smith had resigned and fled, leaving startling irregularities in the school's finances. Further developments disclosed he had speculated heavily with university funds in the wheat market, gambling too soon on a European war. He is now in prison.

HE'LL BE GLAD TO MEET SELF

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—Friends of C. S. Mullen, chief engineer of the Virginia state highway department, are planning a coming out party at which they will introduce him to himself.

During a recent meeting of the American Association of State Highway Officials he listened to a recorded radio broadcast in which he had taken part. He could identify all voices except one, which turned out to be his own.

That's nothing, said his wife. She reported that in reading a paper he said a picture was familiar. The photo was of Mullen himself.

Cossack Chorus Gives Concert In Ashland Feb. 19

Mansfielders who were unable to hear the Don Cossack chorus when the famous Russian singers appeared here in October, will have another opportunity when the chorus appears with the Ashland Symphony orchestra Feb. 19. The concert is scheduled after the present tour closes.

Ashland was able to secure the chorus as the result of the war which made it necessary for the chorus to cancel its European engagements that were to have followed the present American tour. The chorus will be stranded in America at the end of December.

The Ashland symphony is arranging an all-Russian concert for Feb. 19. Among the numbers which are being arranged for the chorus and the orchestra in a combination is the Prayer and the Coronation scene from the opera "Boris Godounoff."

PIONEER TELLS OF THRILLS IN FRONTIER LIFE

88-Year-Old Adventurer Saw Shooting of Wild Bill Hickok, Others.

(By International News Service) GREAT FALLS, Mont. — It will be difficult after nearly 70 years of exciting adventure on the western frontier settlements, but John Taylor believes he can settle down now at the age of 88.

He confided this to pioneer friends on a visit from his home in California where he maintains a real estate business.

On his visit Taylor re-told his exciting story of the shooting of Wild Bill Hickok, two-gun frontier marshal, in the wilds of the Black Hills.

"Tim Brady, a friend of mine, and I were standing on the corner of the main street in Custer City when Jack McCall, a miner went into the main barroom and shot Hickok over a gambling debt," Taylor recalled. "I heard a shot and then McCall came running out of the saloon gun in hand. He was pursued by the bartender and saloon frequenters."

Dashed Toward Horse.

"He dashed toward his horse but a loose cinch and stirrup strap kept him from mounting and he continued down the street to a grocery in the next block where he was captured," the aged pioneer related. "His horse was a few feet from where Brady and I were standing."

Taylor said the body of the famous law officer was removed from the saloon on a wooden door and buried on the outskirts of the city.

The following day McCall was brought before a miner's jury, without a judge present, but was not convicted because the jury disagreed. He was convicted in Yankton, N. D., a month later, however, and sentenced to death."

Taylor told his friends he became acquainted with "Calamity Jane" famous frontier dancehall hostess in a Custer City bathhouse. He said she and another woman were in a compartment next to his and through the thin wood partition "floated some of the most colorful cussin' you have ever heard."

Friendly With Poker Annie.

Taylor also claimed to be friendly with "Poker Annie," cigar smoking gambler, when he was made coroner of Custer City. He said he had joined a band of adventurers in Philadelphia and came to the Black Hills. When Custer City was founded in 1875 he helped stake out its boundaries.

The spy adventurer said he also knew the Dalton Brothers, notorious stagecoach bandits.

If and when German planes attack London, their bombs will bounce off the special spring wire shield covering the roof of this home, or at least so hopes Miss Queenie Illeve, seen admiring the bomb-guard. She paid $250 for it.

HORSES TO VIE WITH TAXICABS

High Cost of Gasoline in Italy Gives Dobbin New Chance.

ROME —(AP)— Horse carriages, on a direct competitive basis with taxicabs in Rome, operate on a taximeter basis.

The high price of gasoline—one dollar a gallon—as well as the prohibition of private motoring, has taken most cars out of circulation and increased the demand for horse-drawn vehicles.

Meters on the horse carriages—which Italians call "carozza" or "vettura"—tick off a bill about equal to that of the taxicab on short trips.

SETS RECORD

All But One Member of 57 Year Old Club Happily Wed.

PUEBLO, Colo. —(AP)— Fifty-seven years ago 18 young women at Osborne, Kans., formed the "Ladies Appolo Club." As long as they lived they kept in communication with each other and nine survivors still correspond by means of a "round robin" letter. Of the 18, all but one married and none was divorced.

POOL ROOM IN CITY HALL

MARION, Ill. —(AP)— An offer of $870 a year looked too good to turn down, so the city council has agreed to lease a room in the city hall to a pool hall operator. Now the council is looking for a place to house the police department and a magistrate's court which formerly occupied the room.

FIND NEW WAY TO USE COTTON

Fabric to Bind Paving Material Tried as Experiment.

HOUSTON, Tex. —(P)— Cotton growers, contractors, department of agriculture officials and department store officials watched with interest recently when a bituminous covering was applied to a large department store parking lot.

The covering consisted of a six-inch shell base tempered with concrete and a one and one-quarter inch bituminous asphalt surface. Between the two, a 30,000 square yard sheet of cotton fabric was spread to "bind" the top material.

IDENTICAL TWINS

WATERTOWN, N. Y. — (AP)—

Fellow business men saw an uncommon sight when James A. Common was visited by his brother, William C. Santa Barbara, Cal. Identical twins who had not met in 29 years, both wear similar glasses, are equally bald and have no distinguishing features.

MOUTHS COUNTED

Italy Keeps Close Check On Consumption of Food.

ROME —(AP)— Italy is keeping a close check on the nation's food demands. The government has distributed cards requesting data on the number of persons in each family, what their normal food consumption is and whether there is any evidence of attempts to hoard food.

PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS PARTY MADE BY FREDERICKTOWN CLUB

FREDERICKTOWN—Twenty-three members of the Fredericktown Garden club answered roll call by giving some Thanksgiving memories in the home of Mrs. Clarence Dumbaugh Monday evening.

The vice president, Mrs. Gertrude Robinson, presided for the business session, when plans were completed for a Christmas party to be held in the home of Mrs. Florence Clark Dec. 18, and committees were appointed for the annual exterior decorations for Christmas.

The public is invited to compete for the loving cup.

In the absence of the guest speaker, the evening was spent in contests and a social time.

A company of relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Owen with well filled baskets Thanksgiving and enjoyed dinner. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loomis and Mrs. Lillian Madden of Shelby, Mrs. Jessie Shipley and daughter Martha and Mrs. Nellie Kinney. Callers in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dudley.

Mrs. Tracy Divilbiss was hostess to the Ladies' Euchre club Monday afternoon with three tables in play. Score award was received by Mrs. F. L. Barnes. Mrs. D. W. Goodell captured the lone hand prize.

Miss Winifred Rush had as her guests Monday afternoon, members of the Contract club for a dessert bridge. Closing scores gave the honors to Mrs. Frederick Bollinger.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral of Mrs. Luella Steward Sunday include Mr. and Mrs. Giner and Mrs. Ruscher of Grove Port, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis and son and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Keller of Cleveland, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Steward and family of Detroit, Misses Chloe Keller and Amy Hall of Lorain, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Berger, Donald, Robert and Albert Berger, Mrs. Ira Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold of Mansfield.

It has been announced by school authorities that the football team, champions of the Knox county league this year, will be banqueted at the high school Tuesday evening, Dec. 5.

Former Fredericktown high school coach, W. G. Moore, now line coach at Muskingum college, and Stewart Holcomb, ex-Ohio State all-American and present head coach at Muskingum, and several local people will be guest speakers.

Several lettermen will be honored at the banquet and the entire squad will be invited. Dinner will be at 6:30 p. m., served by the P. T. A.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Common Pleas Court of Richland County, Ohio.

In re: The First United Presbyterian Church of Mansfield, Ohio.

The Board of Trustees of the First United Presbyterian Church of Mansfield, Ohio, having been duly and regularly authorized by the congregation of said church society, have filed their certain petition in the Common Pleas Court of Richland County, Ohio, to be authorized by said court to sell the following real estate belonging to said church society for cash.

Being located in the City of Mansfield, Richland County, Ohio, and known as Lot No. 1910 of the consequent lot numbers of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, save, except and less 10 feet off the north side of said lot and known as number 108 Sturges Avenue in said city.

That said sale is desired by the congregation of the said church society, and for the purpose of eventually investing said proceeds in another parsonage or for other purposes of said church society in the discretion of said Board of Trustees.

Wherefore it is prayed by the said First United Presbyterian Church of Mansfield, Ohio, that it be authorized by its trustees to sell said property and that its trustees be authorized to execute and convey the deed according to their discretion.

Said cause will come on for hearing before said court on or after the 15th day of December, 1939.

H. M. RUST, Attorney for the Petitioners, 510 Walpole Building, Mansfield, Ohio.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Common Pleas Court, Richland County, Ohio, No. 2501—The Sunday Creek Coal Company, Plaintiff, vs. Arthur J. Brandt, et al., defendants.

Arthur J. Brandt, who last known place of residence, is in the City of Birmingham, Michigan.

Is hereby notified that on November 15, 1939, The Sunday Creek Coal Company filed a petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Richland County, Ohio, in Cause No. 2501, that he has been made a party defendant in said cause; that said petition alleges that said defendant is a judgment creditor of defendant, Don W. Ensel; that on September 9, 1939, defendant, Don W. Ensel and Julia F. Ensel, conveyed certain property, therein described by quitclaim deeds to the defendant, Arthur J. Brandt, who knew at the time said conveyance was made that it was done to hinder, delay the creditors of said Don W. Ensel; that the property so conveyed is that described in the quitclaim deeds filed and recorded in the Richland County Deed Records in Volume 224 at page 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890,

POPEYE—It's an Ill Wind—

THUMP! THUMP! THE MONSTER IS USING POPEYE'S HEAD AS A PUNCHING BAG

POPEYE HAS NOT HAD HIS SPINACH TODAY

YES, INDEED, HE IS IN NEED OF SPINACH

GREETINGS, MY LITTLE ONE

HELLO WIMPY

SOX THUMP!

YOUR PUNCHING BAG IS QUITE LIMP, I FEAR. IT NEEDS AIR SO I BROUGHT A PUMP

YES, THANK YOU

YOU BE NICE PUNCHING BAG. OPEN YOUR MOUTH

SQUISH!

PAM—Missed Connections!

DAVID GETS THE LAY OF THE LAND AT PAM'S APARTMENT

AND THE WINDOW WAS JUST SLIGHTLY RAISED, AND THE BLIND DOWN?

THAT'S RIGHT, DAVID

JENNY WAS ASLEEP HERE—THE DOOR TO THE NEXT ROOM CLOSED. YOU DIDN'T HEAR ANY SOUND FROM IN HERE?

NO—NOT TILL I HEARD HER SCREAM. I HAD LEFT THE DOOR SLIGHTLY Ajar—CLARE AND CRAIG WERE JUST LEAVING—THEY DIDN'T HEAR HER

AND HERE'S OUR YOUNG REPORTER HURRYING TO HIS ROOM—

GOSH! IT'S ALMOST SEVEN O'CLOCK! THAT LATE ASSIGNMENT THE CHIEF GAVE ME UPSET MY PLANS. HOPE I HAVEN'T MISSED ANY CALL AT THE HOUSE—I REALLY DON'T LOOK FOR A CALL NOW, THOUGH!

AND ADAMS' LAND-LADY AT THAT MINUTE!

HELLO!—YES, THIS IS WALTON 57334—OH—MR. ADAMS—NO, HE HASN'T COME YET—ANY MESSAGE?—WHY, YES, HE USUALLY COMES IN ABOUT SIX!

Danish troops hurl turnips during hand grenade throwing practice—news item. And shelled peas, no doubt, are used in the machine gun drills.

And nothing will test gas masks for tear gas as well as a barrage of Bermuda onions.

The British admiralty appears to believe that Germany's floating mines—like Goering's personality—are not magnetic.

The Japanese now have a law, we read, preventing small children from working between the hours of 11 p. m. and 5 a. m. Just additional proof that the Japs are becoming quite civilized.

Horses are staging a comeback—according to a news item. Not the ones we bet on.

MARKET TURNS STEADY AFTER EARLY SETBACK

U. S. Rubber, U. S. Gypsum, Bethlehem and Consolidated Edison Edge Forward.

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK—Stocks steadied in today's market after early setbacks of fractions to around a point for leaders.

Backward were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Western Union, Du Pont and Union Carbide.

Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, U. S. Gypsum and Consolidated Edison eventually edged forward.

Outbreak of actual war between Finland and Russia served to dampen bullish ardor somewhat, brokers said.

While 26 states celebrated the old Thanksgiving holiday today, only five commodity markets in the United States were shut down. These were Minneapolis and Duluth grain pits, the Boston wool mart and Jacksonville and Savannah naval stores exchanges.

Noted was the Dun & Bradstreet summary of bank clearings in 22 cities for the week ended Nov. 29, disclosing the total, while under the preceding week partly because of holiday closings in many states, was higher than the 1938 period. It was the fourth consecutive week in which the year-to-year gain was maintained.

Further confirmation of the country's recovery swing in the past several months was seen in the estimate of Secretary of Labor Perkins that 850,000 workers were restored to employment between May and November. Preliminary reports, the secretary added, indicated the trend continued in mid-November, more than offsetting the seasonal drop in factory employment looked for at this time.

47 STUDENTS TO SPEND DAY AT WORK IN STORES

Salesmanship Class Will Get Actual Experience Friday in Establishments.

Forty-seven Senior high school salesmanship students will spend tomorrow working in eight downtown retail stores as salespeople instead of attending their regular classes at school.

This will be the annual visit of salesmanship students to various Mansfield stores to get practical experience in selling and meeting the public. The project was started several years ago by John C. Stout, salesmanship teacher at the school, in cooperation with Mansfield merchants.

Another salesmanship project in which students attend school half day and work a half day at the Montgomery Ward store, was started four weeks ago.

Each week three different students work at the store during the afternoon, and attend school in the morning. They are given full credit for their store work.

The students and stores to which they have been assigned tomorrow are: Pauline Beard, Mildred Johnson, Barbara Berlin, Mary Swartzkoff, Dorothy McCartney, Evangeline Hammond and Kathryn Knaggs, Neisner's; Mabel Baker, Margaret Urschel, Mary Arnett, Marian Spayde, Mary VanArnhem, Lulu Mae Holland, Ruth Turner and Mary Harmon, Woolworth's 5 and 10.

Helen Holzmillier, Frances Brown, Hazel Payton, Marjorie Walker, Eleanor Damoff, Mary Thompson, Ruth Bates and Mary Jane Probst, Kesge's 5 and 10; Virginia Gull, Marjorie Scanlon, Barbara Schooley, Marjorie Mitchell, Norma Burgraft and Lucille Fetter, Kresge's 25 and $1.00 store; Ruth Mengert, Annetta Weller, Dorothy Blackstone, Mary Wright, Ruth Becker and LaVada Williams, Maxwell's.

FIRST NAMES OUT IN COURT

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—The Tennessee Supreme Court will not permit attorneys to indulge in "personalities" such as calling an attorney by his first name.

Attorney R. D. Busbee, during an argument, referred to Assistant State's Attorney General Jack Smith as "Jack."

"In this court," rapped Chief Justice Grafton Green, "attorneys must refer to attorneys on the opposing side as 'adversary counsel' and not indulge in personalities."

As Negotiators Reached Chrysler Agreement

At this conference in Detroit, officials of the Chrysler Corporation and of the United Automobile Workers' union ended the longest major labor dispute in the automobile industry. A new contract was agreed upon to replace the one which expired Sept. 30. Negotiators, shown left to right, are K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler; Arthur Roach, state labor mediator; James F. Dewey, federal labor mediator; Philip Murray, vice president of the CIO, and R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW (CIO-backed). The strike is estimated to have cost the workers $15,000,000 in wages.

MAN, 69, INJURED IN ACCIDENT, DIES

New London Resident Was Hurt In Truck Crash 2 Weeks Ago.

NEW LONDON—Injuries suffered in a truck accident two weeks ago caused the death in New London hospital Tuesday of Michael Watkins, 69, a New London resident.

Mr. Watkins was injured when a truck in which he was riding skidded and overturned near here. He is survived by his wife, Minnie; two sons, Russell of New London and Kenneth of Ashland; two daughters, Mrs. Grace Dennison of Akron and Mrs. Pearl SAYS of New London, 11 brothers and sisters, five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Sackett funeral home. Burial will be in Grove Street cemetery.

MAKES IRON LUNG

MIAMI, Fla.—(INS)—Work on a special light respirator for Fred Snite, Jr., noted lad of iron lung fame, is near completion according to Dennis R. Scanlan, manufacturer of special surgical instruments. "We now have a respirator for Fred that weighs only five pounds. We never would have been able to develop such a machine except for Fred's patience and willingness to help us," Scanlan said. Snite recently arrived in Miami to spend the winter.

CLEVER RABBIT

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)—Leo Watts of Calexico, Cal., claims Sniffy, a rabbit, is the smartest and cleverest bunny of the age.

The rabbit is fonder of travel than of carrots, and wanders about the streets on a leash.

Watts declares Sniffy is a clever watchdog and whenever the four-year-old rabbit hears prowlers, thumps her hind legs against the floor.

FILM STARS SEE MOVIES, GO UNNOTICED TO SMALL THEATERS

(By International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—One of the best ways to see movie stars in the flesh in Hollywood is to discover their favorite neighborhood theaters.

Most of the stars are movie fans themselves. The few who are not nevertheless see several pictures each week.

It's an important part of their jobs to keep up with the more important productions and study the work of other players.

At the neighborhood houses they can usually slip in without being noticed and exit just as unobtrusively. The fact that the patrons of these theaters never dream of seeing stars except at occasional "sneak" previews undoubtedly helps.

Every player has his or her favorite neighborhood theater. Usually it is some distance away from the star's home, as that helps protect the incognito element. Some stars have several theaters which they attend at irregular intervals.

Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, for example, see most of their movies at four different neighborhood houses in San Francisco Valley. They may go to the same theater two evenings in succession, then attend another house for their next show. They take no particular pains to disguise themselves but they are never bothered by autograph seekers and curious crowds.

James Cagney has been attending the same two theaters in a quiet, residential section for years.

John Garfield usually goes to neighborhood theaters on the outskirts of Los Angeles' industrial section. He likes to mingle with and study the audiences there. So far he has escaped recognition, even when his own starring pictures were the attractions.

Paul Muni frequently drops in to see a show at the beach neighborhood house that Jane Bryan, his leading lady in "We Are Not Alone," attends regularly. Bette Davis is a fairly regular patron at a neighborhood theater in Beverly Hills and Errol Flynn has several favorite theaters in Hollywood.

NAP IN CHURCH O. K., COSTS $5

HASTINGS, England—(AP)—It costs $5 to sleep in church in this English seacoast town.

A woman started it by sending $5 "conscience money" to the Rev. C. C. Dobson, vicar of St. Mary-in-the-Castle, explaining that she had been sleeping in church every Sunday for years.

Whereupon, the vicar announced that anybody in his parish could sleep at the same terms and published in the parish magazine: "Next time you have a nap, send along a pound ($5)."

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe. It gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it truly wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes like—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable gualacol, in concentrated form. It's known for its prompt action in croup, whooping cough, and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Roosevelt Will Be Renominated and Win, Poll Shows

SURVEY SHOWS SHIFT, G. O. P. DEFEAT AGAIN

Magazine Claims Sentiment Among Writers Indicates Loss for Vandenberg.

(By United Press) WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt will be renominated next year and defeat the Republican presidential nominee, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, according to the capital's latest poll released today.

The poll was taken by a nationally distributed magazine among 50 Washington correspondents. The Roosevelt-Vandenberg contest prediction was coincident with announcement by Sen. Rush D. Holt (D. W. Va.) that he would introduce in the next session of congress an anti-third term resolution.

"I think it is ridiculous for anyone to say there is not a third term movement," Holt said. "The question of postponing the conventions is just a straw in the wind."

He was referring to Mr. Roosevelt's discussion with visitors of a plan to hold 1940 nominating conventions in July or August instead of June. Holt threatened a year ago to put the senate on record with an anti-third term resolution but was persuaded otherwise by older party men. But this time it is going in, he insists.

The magazine's poll was taken last month for comparison with an identical poll taken in April. November returns reflected a remarkable shift of opinion among the writers. Here are some of the returns:

	Nov. Apr.	Apr. Apr.
Democratic	34 36	34 36
Republican	16 13	16 13
Undecided	0 3	0 3

Vandenberg, with 25 first choices, led the field of Republican presidential nominees, followed by Sen. Robert A. Taft, O. 16, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, N. Y., four, and Gov. John W. Bricker, Ohio, 3. In the April poll, Vandenberg had two first choices, Taft 21, Dewey 23 and Bricker three.

25 Favor Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt was the first choice of 25 correspondents in the November poll compared with 11 last April. Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt had 12 November firsts to none in April. Secretary of State Cordell Hull was picked first by seven last month and by 10 in April. Vice-President John N. Garner's stock slumped from 17 first choices in April to six in November.

Dewey ran away with first choice for Republican vice presidential nomination trailed by Taft, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Mass., and Sen. H. Styles Bridges, N. H. Postmaster General James A. Farley was ahead but almost tied by McNutt for first Democratic vice presidential choice. Garner and Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), trailed.

SET FOR PLAY

Community Players Open Seat Sale Friday Morning.

The Mansfield Community Players will open their 14th season Tuesday night when they present "The Night of Jan. 16" at Senior high school auditorium.

Reservation of seats for season ticket holders will open at 9 a. m. Friday in the ballroom of the Leland hotel, with Harvey Bailey in charge of the seat board. Later in the morning the board will be removed to the Tawse pharmacy where it will remain until Tuesday evening.

Notices of the opening of the reservations were mailed today to 350 persons who have already purchased tickets. Bailey said. It is expected that when all reports are in 14 season tickets will have been sold.

Community players chose a mystery play for their first presentation this season. The play has an unusual twist in that the ending is determined by a jury chosen from the audience.

PHONES STORY AS BOMBS ROCK FINN CAPITAL

War Correspondent Tells of Attacks on Helsinki by Russian Warplanes.

(Editor's Note: In the midst of a new air bombardment of Helsinki by Soviet Russian planes, Lynn Heinzerling, the Associated Press correspondent in the Finnish capital, today telephoned the following story to the outside world via Copenhagen.)

By LYNN HEINZERLING HELSINKI—Fourteen Soviet planes were seen near Helsinki early this afternoon, but no bombs were dropped at first.

The United States legation has arranged for quarters at Grankula, but has not yet decided to evacuate.

Soberly thoughtful as his office received reports from various points, Finnish Foreign Minister Elias Erikko made the following statement to the Associated Press:

(Here the telephone communication was interrupted by the crash of a bomb. "People outside are running for cover," said Heinzerling. "An air raid warning has not yet been sounded, and they were caught unawares. Now continue Erikko.")

"Despite the fact that we have shown to the last a willingness to try to find a peaceful solution of the difficulties which have arisen between Finland and Russia in the face of Soviet demands and despite the fact we have tried all means possible to avoid any conflict on the frontier, we have been attacked today.

"As a reason for the attack the pretext was used that we invaded Russian territory and our troops threatened Leningrad.

"We haven't done anything of the kind."

(The sirens of passing ambulances drowned the conversation here, and then there was a crash as another bomb fell nearby.)

FRONTIER BOMBARDED.

"Our troops were on border duty only for possible attack against Finland, and what happened today showed we had done right. Our frontier has been bombarded and Finnish territory occupied.

"Our capital has been twice attacked and Viborg (Viipuri, East of Helsinki) has been attacked even more severely, and the Ensoe hospital has been destroyed."

(Here Heinzerling interjected. "There's a big cloud of smoke outside." Then he continues with Erikko's statement.)

"We think this is the purest aggression imaginable. We believed in the nonaggression pact which was to have been in force without the right of unilateral denunciation until 1945, and we think it is still in force.

CROWD ATTENDS AMATEUR SHOW

Five Winners Chosen from 23 Acts On Show Staged By Vets.

A well-filled house at the Madison last night witnessed the amateur talent show which was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Of 23 acts, eight were selected by judges, and the final five winners were chosen by audience applause.

George Knackstedt won first prize of $5 for his vocal number, "Gold Mine In The Sky". Other winners were Pauline Huff, $4, for her song "Are You Having Any Fun?"; Fred Lewis and two sons in a roller skating acts, $3; Joyce Paton, acrobatic dancer, $2 for fourth prize; and Margaret Reed, $1 for fifth prize for singing "South of The Border."

SALVATION ARMY SEEKS TO RAISE $15,000 IN DRIVE

100 Workers to Launch Drive Tomorrow to Pay Off Debt and Finance Repairs.

The Mansfield unit of the Salvation Army will launch a drive tomorrow for $15,000 to pay off the mortgage on the home at South Main and Second streets and to cover necessary repairs.

A kick-off breakfast will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at First Methodist church when Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will speak and instruction will be given to the 100 campaign workers.

The mortgage totals $11,000 and the interest on this amount each year comes out of the operating fund which the army receives from the Mansfield Community Fund, campaign leaders said. They pointed out that this seriously cripples the work which is dependent upon the annual operating fund.

"It was recently decided with the consent and approval of the Community Fund, to try to pay off the mortgage through popular subscriptions and to raise an additional $4,000 for repairs," they said.

A similar drive was conducted in 1927 and at that time a part of the money was raised to meet the cost of the building but the drive fell $11,000 short of the goal.

All of the money collected in the drive will be spent on the home, workers said today.

Louis Bromfield, who is in Hollywood, is chairman of the drive. He recently sent a number of written appeals to Mansfield people from the film city. Sub-chairmen working with him are Carlton S. Fernyak, Paul Endriss and Attorney Francis O'Brien. Charles Fuchs is treasurer of the Salvation Army board.

Headquarters for the drive have been set up on the sixth floor of the Farmers Bank building.

MAP PLANS FOR BIBLE SCHOOL

Sunday School Heads Get Ready For Training Course.

Plans for the annual Mansfield Bible Study and Leadership Training school are to be outlined at a meeting of the Board of Community Church School administration at 4:30 p. m. today at the Y. M. C. A.

The board is selected by the Sunday School Superintendents' association which sponsors the school in conjunction with the "Y". The board is comprised of Ralph B. Chapman, chairman, George H. Hoover, Rev. David N. Roller and Rex G. Averill.

It is planned to have the school open sometime in January. Last year 178 Mansfield and county Sunday school workers were enrolled in the course, and of this number 145 received full credit for their work.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Sales tax receipts for the week ending Nov. 18 totaled $950,392, more than $200,000 above collections for the corresponding week of last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright announced today.

At the same time, Ebright revealed that he paid the state treasurer's office has dated state receipts to 7,170 applicants for redemption at 3 per cent of face value of sales tax stamps.

DENTAL CLINIC GROUP ELECTS

Mrs. J. Ward Ingraham Named President of Association as Directors Meet.

Mrs. J. Ward Ingraham, 130 West Third street, has been named to head the Mansfield Dental Clinic association during 1940.

Mrs. Ingraham was elected president of the association yesterday by the board of directors at its first organization meeting.

Other officers named were Mrs. Robert D. Evans, vice president; Mrs. W. C. Fort, secretary and Mrs. Thornton Moore, treasurer.

The association includes representatives of various Mansfield women's organizations. Aim of the group is to establish a dental clinic for indigent school children.

Mrs. Ingraham, formerly a physio-therapist of the Sunshine school for crippled children has been temporary chairman. She is a member of the Delta Theta Tau sorority which proposed the establishment of the dental clinic more than a year ago.

The new president yesterday named a committee consisting of Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Fort, Mrs. F. D. Boals and Mrs. R. R. Black to craft by-laws for the organization.

The directors will meet again Dec. 12 to adopt rules.

FINDS HEARSE BAD FOR TRIP

Indian Abandons Machine as Family Nearly Suffocates on Long Ride.

PIERRE, S. D. — Scattered parts of an expensive hearse lie whitening on the South Dakota prairie today as testimony for a story of frontier days when "cow-boys and Indians" was a he-man game.

G. E. Lemmon, pioneer rancher, recorded the yarn in his memoirs.

When Sitting Bull went on the warpath in the late '70's, the war department confiscated hundreds of Indian ponies to prevent other Sioux bands from joining the outlaws. Old Long Dog was one Indian who lost many ponies.

1881 paid Old Long Dog for his lost horses.

He came to Pierre to buy an elaborate carriage to transport his large family across the wastes west of the Missouri river.

The carriage dealer showed him everything in stock. A hearse with fancy trimmings took the Indian's eye. Old Long Dog bought it for $800.

At the clothing store he picked up a stove-pipe hat and a new suit of clothes, cut in the latest New York fashion. He packed his family into the hearse and whipped his team out of town.

At the ranch, many hours hours away, he opened the hearse door. His family was nearly suffocated.

Old Long Dog and company abandoned the hearse.

Passing white men picked off the wheels, the tongue, bits of hardware and the plush lining until only the skeleton was left. Today some pieces remain.

INDIANS HATED SCHOOL UNTIL TEACHER USED PERFUMED SOAP

(By United Press)

CASS LAKE, Minn.—The curriculum at the Squaw Point school begins with perfumed soap and ends with a cow.

The cow isn't exactly a feature yet, but it's coming. The soap is definitely a major item.

It all started a couple of years ago, when Herman Middleholtz and his wife, both of them just out of college, arrived to take over the unwanted job of teaching in the little one-room school 20 miles back into the woods from here.

Their pupils were about three dozen Chippewa Indian kids, the bane of previous teachers, who couldn't convince them they should go to school when they would rather be out snaring rabbits and spearing pickers.

So the Middleholtzes had to begin with fundamentals. Mrs. M. laid in a stock of scented soap, and the youngsters all but ate it. They got into the habit of washing.

Middleholtz threw away the tin bucket of lake water and rigged up an ice cooler for their drinking water. That was a novelty, and the kids liked it. They also liked the bright posters the teachers plastered over the drab walls of the school, and the display of Indian craftsmanship that was hung up in the school room. From their homes the pupils brought items for the display, and in school they learned to make other items. It began to be fun going to school.

It was even more fun when the teachers began serving hot lunches. Most of the kids were hungry most of the time, and their enthusiasm for hot soup was boundless. That's when the idea of the cow came in. The Middleholtzes decided it would be good for the children to have milk with their lunch, and hot cocoa and cream soups. But there was nothing in the budget to cover such luxuries.

Cows, they discovered, are seldom found in Indian communities.

So, again, the Middleholtzes are building from the ground up. Through a succession of school activities, headed by a co-operative store that sells food to the pupils' parents, they are trying to earn money to buy a cow. They then will have to rig up a shed for it, and arrange for feed and equipment.

The Indians are watching the campaign with interest—and considerable confidence. If the Middleholtzes, they argue, could convince the kids that a school is not necessarily a jail, they can produce a cow from somewhere.

The teachers are confident about it, too. So far they've got everything they want after—including, just the other day, praise from the state commissioner of education for turning the Squaw Point school into a busy community center instead of a teacher's nightmare.

WHISKEY BUYING PUZZLE ENDED...

PUTTING AN EGG INTO A BOTTLE

A hard-boiled egg with the shell removed cannot be forced into a milk bottle, but it's easy when you know how. Simply, light a small piece of paper, put it in the bottle, place egg on top. The vacuum created draws the egg into the mouth of the bottle. It's just as simple to solve the puzzle of which whiskey to buy by calling for Sherry-Blended Caravan Whiskey.

YOUR CONFUSION CLEARED UP WITH Sherry-Blended Caravan

A BLEND OF FINE STRAIGHT WHISKIES...90 PROOF

Small wonder the "occasional" buyer of whiskey feels like he is reaching into a grab bag. There are enough brands, types and prices even to confuse an "expert." Others have found a way to end this confusion... as you can. They step right up and order Sherry-Blended Caravan—selected, light-bodied, straight whiskies, blended with a dash of rare, imported Sherry. Try it yourself. You are very apt to discover a whiskey that tastes good—to you and your friends.

TELL BILL GOODBYE + + + + +

CHAPTER NINE

Thursday, she said casually, "Is it Dr. Hopkins or Dr. Mallory who takes the afternoon clinic tomorrow?"

"Dr. Hopkins."

Fabienne's heart sank. Then she remembered that she was going to call an extra rehearsal for the children's play. She called it for six-thirty. She'd be there when he came.

She woke at seven in the morning. She had over an hour to dress. But she had never had anything to dress for as she had that day. She tried on the black crepe Gertrude had sent her from Paris a week before. Too ornate. She took it off and put on a pale blue woolen. Skirt too short. She dropped it on the floor for the maid to pick up. Her black velvet called for pearls and pearls in a settlement house were like tulle at a bridge party.

She decided on a scarlet shetland suit with the finely pleated batiste blouse.

"Good morning. Lovely day isn't it?" she caroled to the doorman who told her her car was parked on Fifty-eighth street.

A policeman stopped her for going through a red light and hadn't the heart to scold her when she smiled so brightly at him.

"Oh, it was wonderful to be going to Willoughby house. Good old Elihu Willoughby!"

She parked the car with a flourish and went in to fill the day with work that would pass the hours until night.

The evening clinic opened at seven.

It was November and darkness fell early. Fabienne got up to draw the curtains at five o'clock, and her hand on the fabric was arrested and shook a trifle when the voice she had been waiting an interminable time to hear spoke from the door:

"Hello," he said.

"Hello," she said. That was all for a moment. Then: "Aren't you early?"

"Got a date," he said. He wore a trench coat over his tweeds and the bulk of him was tremendous. "Been keeping up the good work all week?"

She nodded. "And thinking up all the right answers," she said.

"I'll bet you could."

"Some time when you have time," she started to say.

Then suddenly Ellen Chapman, dressed in her inexpensive fur coat and a dowdy little hat, was at the door, walking into the room, tucking her arm in Dr. Mallory's.

And Ellen was saying, "So you and Bill have met?"

BILL This was Ellen's Bill! Fabienne's lips felt stiff. She said, "Yes, I've met Dr. Mallory." Ellen wasn't hardly listening. She was saying, "Do you want to dine at Luigi's, Bill? Or shall I get supper at my place? We've an hour and a half."

"Your place, of course. Good night, Miss Seymour."

FABIENNE WAS having a bath and trying to enjoy it when the telephone rang. It was the kind of bath that should bring a girl to her senses. It was foaming and fragrant with bath salts that had cost as much as a poor doctor's wife pays for six pairs of stockings. There was a rubber pillow at the head of the tub and great fluffy towels warming for her. Outside it was sleeting and the wind howled across the park.

"Forget it, Ken. I'm not really in love," she told him.

But in the room it was warm and luxurious and bright with lights. The wife of a poor doctor would live in a walk-up and be lucky to have a cake of soap, she told herself angrily, and picked up the phone.

Camilla Morse was at the other end of the wire.

"Hello, darling . . . Will you serve on my committee for the Velvet ball?" she wanted to know.

"No," Fabienne bit off the word. "How many times have I told you, Camilla, that I simply won't serve on ANY committees."

"But, darling, I thought since you'd got so charitable, doing all that settlement work and that . . . why . . . I . . ."

"I'm fed to the teeth with charitable work, Cam. Sorry."

"But, look, darling, we never see you. What about dinner a week from Thursday? I've a fascinating man who wants to meet you."

Fabienne said, "Hold the wire." She hugged her woolly robe closer to her wet figure and stretched across the bed to reach her engagement pad. She thumbed through it hastily and picked up the telephone.

"Can't make it then, Camilla. I'm booked solid for two weeks."

"Anything exciting?"

"Terribly," Fabienne said bitterly. "Theater tonight. Marcia's for dinner tomorrow night. Ned Webster's opening the next night. The hockey game at the Garden the next night. The Grainger's shindig the next. Shall I go on? It's all pretty much the same?"

She could hear Camilla gasp at the other end. "How do you do it? Ye gods, Fab, why do you persist in doing the Big Sister act for eight hours a day? I'm dead if I stay up until midnight, and I hear you're doing the town up night after night."

Fabienne smiled wryly. "I'm unique," she said. She might have said that she had to go out where there were lights—bright lights and music—loud music—and people and more people, so that she wouldn't think, so that she could sleep when she got home.

It was true that she was unhappy, but it was also true that Fabienne had brains and used them.

It was not thwarted love that made her mentally ill; it was disappointment and frustration. For the first time in her life she had seen something that she thought she wanted and found she couldn't have, and she was wise enough to call it frustration and only that. She was not sick with the pangs of love at all. It was true, and she knew it. But she knew, as well, that with the abrupt end of her anticipation the flavor of life had grown tasteless. The meaning of days was gone when she compared these days since the night that Ellen Chapman had tucked her elbow into Bill Mallory's—Dr. J. W. Mallory's.

Now, because she had known something else briefly, she knew boredom for what it was.

The night Ned Webster's club opened and Rose O'Day took New York by storm with her torch singing. Fabienne was there with Ken Hemingway.

Rose O'Day had magic in her voice and she was singing from her heart. Her voice was like a palpitating heart held in your hand.

The mask was off Fabienne's cool face as she listened.

Ken said softly, "I give up."

Fabienne drew her brows together questioning.

"Some other guy has got your heart. It's all over your face, baby. Who's the lucky guy?"

It was Rose O'Day's singing that did it. She played on Fabienne's emotions. Fabienne bubbled over. At least it was bubbling over for Fabienne. She said, "I met that man that a girl meets once in a lifetime—or, at least, he looked like that kind of a man—but when I went to collect him, I found I'd be poaching."

"Married?"

She shook her head.

"Engaged?"

"I don't think so."

"Then what's stopping you? All's fair in love and—"

She stopped him. "There's no use talking about it. It's just out as far as I'm concerned." There was no point in trying to tell Ken why she couldn't cut in on Ellen. She didn't know why exactly herself. Other girls she had known were not above pirating when it came to men, but Ellen wasn't like any other girl she had known. Ellen had offered her real friendship. It was more than that. Ellen gave her something to live up to, demanding as much as she gave. Ellen would never do that to her. Fabienne had her code, too. She played opponents' rules in fair games.

She said, "Forget it, Ken. I'm not really in love. I haven't had a chance to be. I'm the kid who wanted a doll that Santa Claus brought to another kid."

"What's he like?"

That was bad stuff. She couldn't tell him what Bill Mallory was like. She didn't know. All she had had to go on was her instinct. She couldn't say, "Oh, he's a doctor and he's handsome and I wanted him to take me in his arms because I know that life could hold nothing else like it."

So she said, "He's poor and he sings in a church choir."

Ken said, "My God! And you a sybarite! Well, if it isn't love that's getting you thin around the edges, it must be work. Why don't you give it up for a while?"

She hadn't thought of that. She'd only thought how long the days and nights were, and that every week she'd have to arrange her schedule to be away from Willoughby house when Bill Mallory was to be at the clinic, that she was finding it more and more difficult to evade Ellen Chapman's invitations. They had spent a great many evenings together in the three months she had been at the settlement house.

Three months! Her three months were up, she realized suddenly.

The next day she made two long distance calls: One to Nicky to ask him if it was gay in Maryland, and the other to her Uncle Mark to say that she was coming down.

To Ellen Chapman she said, "Well, Ellen, have I or haven't I lived up to what you expected of me?"

Ellen said, "You have, and I expected a lot, Fab. You've done wonderful work here and the girls adore you."

Fabienne looked brittle and gay and impervious to flattery. She said, "I always live up to my bargains. It's been three months. Remember?"

"It's gone quickly," Ellen said, perplexity in her eyes. "Sometimes. Not always. But it has been interesting and I'll always remember you, Ellen."

"What do you mean?"

"I'm leaving," Fabienne said, as if she expected the other girl to understand. "I said I'd work for three months, now I'm through. I'm leaving for Maryland Saturday."

"Fabienne!" Fabienne wished that Ellen wouldn't look as if she were hurt. "But what about the children's play? You can't just leave things in mid-air."

"Sorry. They can do the play without me. Goodbye, Ellen."

REDS INVADE FINLAND, OPEN TRIPLE ATTACK

Capital Bombed, Soviet Army Crosses Frontier; Finns Answer With Artillery.

(Continued From Page 1) show the unity of the nation in its gravest crisis in answer to Russian charges that the government does not have the support of its people.

Anti-aircraft batteries engaged in several battles with Russian planes over the Malm airport outside the Finnish capital.

An air alarm sounded at 9:20 a. m. (2:20 a. m., E.S.T.) was ended at 2:18 p. m. (7:18 a. m., E.S.T.)

The invasion began early today. Incendiary bombs dropped on Ensoe set fire to several buildings, including a hospital which was destroyed. Casualties were not immediately determined.

Heads for Other Islands. The Russian fleet, after taking Seiskari, was believed to be heading toward other Finnish Islands in the Gulf of Finland. Seiskari is near the narrow neck of the gulf, just west of Kronstadt, port of Leningrad, Russia's second city. The government has taken no step as yet regarding the removal of itself or civilians from Helsinki. The capital is regarded as strongly fortified against naval attack.

Preliminary orders to the public have been drawn, however, and as a precaution, some government papers were burned in the basement of the capitol.

Viborg, on the northern shore of the Gulf of Finland, apparently was heavily bombed from the sea.

Red army troops began crossing the Karelian frontier, north of Leningrad, under protective Soviet artillery fire along the whole length of the border.

Soviet warplanes swooped over Helsinki and dropped five bombs on the Malm airport on the outskirts of the city.

Air defense guards quickly and calmly took their stations in the highest buildings and scanned the horizon with binoculars, toured the streets helping civilians find air raid shelters or manned fire prevention posts.

No bombs were dropped in Helsinki itself but a small island in the Finnish capital's harbor was bombed.

Street cars, automobiles, trains and all other traffic was halted as soon as the air raid warnings sounded.

The invaders also bombed Viborg and the Finnish industrial city of Ensoe.

Their troops attacked north of Lake Ladoga and cut off Suojarvi, a small button of Finnish territory extending into Russia and a strategic point in the Finnish defense plan.

They also cut off the so-called fisherman's peninsula near the Arctic ocean harbor of Petsamo.

After the first air raid, Soviet planes dropped handbills in Finnish saying:

"You know we have food. You know we have bread. Why hungry?"

The first sound this correspondent heard after the thunder of bursting bombs and the barking of anti-aircraft batteries had died away was a chorus of singing, marching soldiers in Helsinki's streets.

All barracks were alive with calm activity.

Calm also was the keynote of civilian behavior. There was no panic.

Anti-gas units appeared in the streets and Helsinki's inhabitants slung gasmasks over their shoulders.

The Russian fleet was reported to have sailed from Kronstadt and to have participated in bombardments along the Karelian seacoast. The isthmus lies between the Gulf of Finland and Lake Ladoga, north of Leningrad.

(Reports in Copenhagen said the Soviet fleet had been sighted from the Helsinki water front.)

The announcement of war was made shortly after bombs had fallen on the airport from three Russian planes.

The crossing of the frontier preceded the air raid, the government said, and was accompanied by some firing and an artillery bombardment of Terijoki.

Telephone communications with the Finnish city of Suojarvi, north of Lake Ladoga and almost 300 miles north of Terijoki, were reported broken by another Soviet artillery bombardment.

The first air alarm in Helsinki sounded at 9:20 a. m. and the sirens kept warning for more than 10 minutes of three planes, apparently Russian, were observed cruising high.

There was a blast of machine-gun fire in the center of the city, then silence. The airplanes disappeared.

The foreign office spokesman, his voice calm and level, said, "It has started. The war is on."

The smoothly functioning civilian defense corps immediately went into action, guards hurrying through the city to inform its inhabitants to take shelter when the planes were sighted.

From 9:20 a. m. to 11:20 a. m. there were no more air alarms, no firing and no planes were observed. (Reports in Copenhagen said the Soviet fleet had been sighted from the Helsinki waterfront.)

(It was reported there also that a bomb, apparently intended for a woodpulp factory, had struck a nearby hospital.)

Sweden Takes Steps To Bolster Defenses.

STOCKHOLM —(U.S.)—Sweden's defenses will be reinforced immediately as a result of the Soviet invasion of Finland, authoritative quarters said today.

News of Russia's advance against the neighboring republic struck Sweden with explosive force, and the government at once was called into session.

However, it was emphasized that Sweden has undertaken no obligations to lend Finland military aid.

For the time being, general Swedish army mobilization is held in abeyance. But a communique revealing additional defense preparations is expected during the afternoon.

Although, at the meeting of the kings of Norway, Denmark, and Sweden and the president of Finland in Stockholm last month, Scandinavian solidarity was reaffirmed, informed quarters did not believe there was any chance of Sweden's intervening in the struggle.

For a while telephonic communications with Helsingfors were cut off today. Telegraph lines are open.

Difficulties are encountered in communicating with Soviet points. America's offer to mediate in the Russo-Finnish dispute made an extremely favorable impression in all Nordic countries.

German Planes Over Scottish Coast Again.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Four German reconnaissance planes flew over the east coast of Scotland today and two Heinkel bombers appeared near the Firth of Forth.

Two German bombers also were sighted north of the Firth of Forth but were driven off by British Royal Air Force fighters.

It was reported that a dog fight occurred when British fighters went up to engage the Heinkel bombers seen near the Firth of Forth.

Reds Demand Naval Bases, Norway Hears.

OSLO, Norway—(U.P.)—Rumors circulated here today without confirmation that Soviet Russia is demanding three naval bases on Norway's northern coast.

(Norway's coast on the Arctic ocean is separated from that of Russia only by Finland's narrow corridor to northern waterways. Already Russia has demanded part of the Finnish coast, the Rybachy peninsula.)

BUCYRUS WOMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

CHOSEN PILOT TRAINING SITE

Mansfield One of 3 Cities in State Chosen Under Civil Aeronautics Program.

(Continued From Page 1) the aim of the C. A. A. to set up the program on a five-year basis and that the state's quota may be raised next year to allow for training of additional civilians and advanced training for those who start the instruction this year.

The students are to be trained by a local instructor who is expected to be James R. Harrington, airport manager.

Johnson also disclosed that government workers were engaged in making a survey of Mansfield's municipal airport in connection with a state plan to re-classify flying fields under a proposed C.A.A. five-year airport improvement plan.

The proposal, he said, which will be presented to the next session of congress for approval, would boost the rating of Mansfield's airfield and place it on a par with some of the state's larger cities.

As proposed, Mansfield would be a stop on the Pittsburgh-Chicago airline and would connect two feeder lines, one to Cleveland and the other to Marion.

Explaining that the survey was based on industry, he added:

"Industry in the future will ask of a community, what are your air facilities? The city that expects to hold its rightful place in the industrial world must maintain its place in aviation, especially in airport improvement."

Kann Named President.

At the association's annual election of officers, Norman Kann, 635 Bigelow road, was named president to succeed Dr. L. D. Bonar, who has headed the chapter for the past year.

Other officers chosen were Walter Shuey, Ashland airport operator, vice president; James R. Harrington, secretary, and Edward James, treasurer.

The group also set up an advisory board to consist of the president, past president and operators of local airfields.

Shelby Lodge Presents Life Memberships at Dinner.

SHELBY — Observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Shelby Lodge, No. 392, Knights of Pythias, was made last night at a dinner and program at the K. of P. hall.

Speakers included James Dunn, Jr., of Cleveland, past supreme chancellor; Harry Wilkinson of Cleveland, grand chancellor, and E. E. Coriell of Bowling Green, grand keeper of the records and seals.

Coriell presented the three living charter members of the lodge with life membership cards. They are Judge Edwin Mansfield of Mansfield and V. O. Peters and Sam Nohacker, both of Shelby.

Remarks were made by representatives of the Mansfield and Bellville chapters of the lodge. Twenty-five members of Mansfield and Bellville lodges were guests at the program. The philosophy of James Whitcomb Riley was given by Dr. Arthur Staples.

RETIRED FARMER DIES AT AGE 84

E. R. Hill and Wife Celebrated 60th Wedding Anniversary.

BUCYRUS—Edmond Ross Hill, 84, retired farmer, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Clime, south of here. He had been ill for 13 months.

Mr. Hill was born in Marion county, April 15, 1855, and he and his wife celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this year. He was the last of a family of five children. His wife, Laura, and daughter, and two grandsons survive. He was a member of Mt. Zion United Brethren church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Wise funeral home with Rev. J. H. Patterson in charge. Burial will be in Oakwood.

BENEFIT UNDER NEW CROP PLAN

Richland Farmers Will Get 'Better Chance' Under 1940 Program.

Approximately 1,600 Richland county farmers who participated in the 1939 program are expected to receive more than $100,000 for limiting their crops and improving their land.

Soil-building practices recommended by the agriculture department include seeding non-crop land to legumes, grasses and other vegetation which prevents water and wind erosion, planting forest trees, and contour cultivation of land planted to the major crops.

Officials explained that farmers would be required to perform more of the soil-building practices in 1940 than previously in order to get the same amount of benefits.

Thus, under this year's farm program, each acre seeded to alfalfa entitled the farmer to two units of soil-building practices, which in turn gave him $3 in benefits. Under the 1940 program, each acre seeded to alfalfa will entitle him to but one unit, or $1.50. Likewise, each acre seeded to legumes and grasses will be equal to half a unit, compared with one unit under the 1939 program.

ROOSEVELT AND AIDES CONFER

Hull Rushes Reports of Red-Finnish War to President on Arrival at Station.

Hull and other authorities had no immediate comment on the new conflict but it was apparent that they were disappointed over the failure of their efforts of yesterday to maintain peace by negotiation.

Regarding Finnish acceptance of the offer of "good offices" Schoenfeld advised the state department he had delivered Secretary Hull's statement this morning in Helsinki.

Schoenfeld cabled that the Finnish minister of foreign affairs had declared that his government, welcoming the exercise of good offices, would be especially glad to have such a step taken because it had no communication with the Russian government.

A report to the department from Walter C. Thurston, American charge d'affaires at Moscow, said he had delivered Hull's statement to the vice commissar for foreign affairs. The vice commissar, Thurston reported, told him that in his opinion there was no occasion for the use of good offices.

Beyond this there was no comment, the report said, but Hull's statement presumably will be delivered to higher Russian officials.

The report from Schoenfeld said he had been informed by the Finnish foreign ministry that no attack on Russia had been made anywhere from the Finnish side, but that Russian artillery bombardment began by land and sea at 7 a. m., local time, (midnight, E. S. T.) near Terijoki and Kuokka, as well as in the district north of Lake Ladoga, where the Russians crossed the Finnish frontier.

RENAMED HEAD OF BIBLE CLASS

Charles Swisher Chosen President At Baptist Dinner.

Charles Swisher was re-elected president of the C. H. Huston Bible class of the Park Avenue Baptist church at the annual election of officers held last night in conjunction with an oyster supper at the church.

Other officers elected are Roger Au, vice president, Raymond Bright, secretary; Vern Miller, treasurer, and Harry Bush, recording secretary.

Following the meeting a program including motion pictures was presented in charge of Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor. The supper was in charge of a committee made up of Vern Miller, Russell Hayman, Raymond Bright, Roger Au, Harold Neese.

EATING HABITS IN U. S. UNDERGO ANOTHER SHIFT

Lowly Hamburger Replaces Old Hot Dog as Nation's Best Liked Sandwich.

(By United Press)
COLUMBUS—When you munch that hamburger—which has definitely replaced the one-time popular "hot dog"—you're contributing to a revolution within the restaurant business in the nation.

The hamburger, turned out by hundreds-of-thousands of small sandwich shops, has become the standard sandwich of the nation. Only the east, where the "Coney Island" originated, clings to that epicurean delicacy of the broad-walk, for sentimental and advertising reasons.

The current revolution in eating habits, similar to the one which saw the cafeteria come into being shortly after the end of the World war, is the result of demand for even faster service than that provided by the cafeteria.

Entered Speed Era.

The end of the war plunged the nation into a speed era. The late J. O. Mills, Columbus restaurant operator, who had experimented with the cafeteria plan in 1911, found need for it when the tempo of living and eating was stepped up at the war's end. It offered low cost food through cutting of overhead by the fact that it was self-serve.

The cafeteria still maintains an important place in our public eating habits and still has the mass service appeal for the operators, and for industrial plants who must serve many large meals to their employees in a short time.

But, today the eating habits of the nation again are undergoing a distinct change. Restaurants are smaller, standardized, serve limited low cost menus, are fast, convenient to the person who "eats on the go," and combine personal service to the customers—an item not included in the cafeteria plan. These modernized restaurants, little larger than a gasoline service station, are built with the compactness of an airline hostesses' kitchen, and are built with a view to selling eye appeal as well as taste appeal.

More than 1,000,000 persons in the United States are regular players.

TWO STUDY GROUPS CONDUCT MEETINGS

Mrs. C. M. Jelliff Speaks on Robert Frost Before Nomad Club; Islands Subjects for Two Papers at Sorosis.

AT THE 11 A. M. MEETING of the Nomad club yesterday at the Women's Club Mrs. Charles M. Jelliff spoke on Robert Frost, the New England poet. Having heard him recently in Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Jelliff told a great deal about the man personally, read some of his poetry including "Mending Wall," and interpreted the various works.

In discussion of the poet she explained "He uses experiences rather than emotions." Mrs. Jelliff gave intimate glimpses of his character. The members were served luncheon at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Charles Workman and Mrs. Charles Fox were guests of the club.

The next meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Dec. 13 with Mrs. Robert B. Black. This will be the annual Christmas program with Mrs. J. C. Wilson in charge and husbands of the members as guests.

Mrs. S. R. Baird, Crescent road, was hostess to members of the Mansfield Junior Sorosis last night when plans were made for a Christmas supper party to be held at 6 p. m. at the home of Mrs. L. C. Baumgardner, Courtwright boulevard, South Boulevard, Dec. 13. There will be a gift exchange at this meeting.

Mrs. V. A. Simpson spoke on the Philippine Islands last night, and told of their coming independence from the United States, and the fact that they are almost completely dependent upon this country for the sales of their exports.

The paper on the West Indies was given by Mrs. Andrew Mott who told the history of the islands, described Cuba and the smaller bodies, and suggested that the climate and environment of Dominica is ideal.

During the business meeting presided over by Mrs. A. H. Moellenkamp, Mrs. Harold Mansfield announced the need of clothes to make costumes for the children's theater project, and the sale for the blind was also announced.

PLAY GAMES.

Members of the Friendly Eight club met last night with Mrs. Lester Raby, Bowman street, for their regular social. Mrs. Fred Roth, a guest, was a prize winner, and other winners were Mrs. Herman Wentz, Mrs. Henry Stauffer and Mrs. Robert Cook. The next meeting will be Dec. 13 with Miss Opal Lindegger, 18 Newlon place.

30 ATTEND.

There were 30 members of the Christomathean class present last night at the home of Mrs. Rodney Hale. Mrs. L. S. Barr was welcomed into the class, and the officers elected were as follows: Mrs. Orpha Pulver, president; Bertha Landis, vice president; Mrs. George Hannawalt, secretary, and Mrs. Hale, treasurer.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Book Reviewed at Meeting; Arrange Costume Party

"Days of Our Years," by Pierre von Paasson, was the book reviewed by Mrs. Charles Newcomb at the regular meeting of the Philomathian club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. P. Siegenthaler, 641 Forest Hill road. Two substitute members were received into the club at the meeting. They were Mrs. Thornton Lake and Mrs. Burleigh Drummond.

During the business session, in charge of Miss Katharine Hartman, president, Miss Margaret Black, Miss Helen Hosler, and Mrs. Paul Stephens were appointed to a committee to distribute Christmas baskets.

At the close of the evening the hostess served a buffet luncheon with Miss Kathleen Sturges and Mrs. Lewis Hartman pouring. The table was cleverly decorated with a centerpiece of vari-colored vegetables.

Miss Katherine Rhoads invited the group to her home on Woodhill road for a Christmas party, Dec. 13, and requested the members to attend in costumes representing characters of Christmas carols or stories. The committee planning this event with Miss Rhoads includes Mrs. Tom Ford, Mrs. Otis Cummins and Miss Martha King.

Safety Council Gives Plays Before Parents

Members of the Mansfield Council of Parents and Teachers met last night at the Bowman street school to see three playlets presented by the safety council of the school, and directed by Fred Boals. Mrs. Cleo Flockencier, Mrs. Margaret Wheeler and Mrs. O. H. Bender gave convention highlights.

The membership was reported at 2287 by Mrs. G. C. Young, membership chairman, and Mrs. M. W. Hieber conducted the routine business meeting. A social hour followed with George Harmony and Sherman Glessner serving the refreshments.

WITH MRS. RICKER.

Nine members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Master Plumbers' association, were entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. W. Ricker, West Fifth street. The affair was a luncheon meeting, and plans were completed for a Christmas party, Dec. 28, the place to be announced later. Mrs. W. Overly was a guest at the meeting.

PLAN DINNER.

Members of the Companion Sewing circle planned their annual Christmas dinner to be held Dec. 20 at the First Christian church yesterday when they met for an all-day session at the K. of P. hall. The December meeting will also feature a gift exchange. There were 17 present, and a noon dinner was served. Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. Clarence Boals were the hostesses. A business session and social hour followed.

HAS BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Olive Mentzer, 94, quietly celebrated her birthday at her home in Little Washington Monday.

Club Leaders Chat at Joint Session This Week

At the joint meeting Tuesday of the Travelers and Round Table clubs at the Women's Club the two organization presidents were chatting before the old-fashioned fireplace when the News-Journal photographer snapped their picture. The women above are Mrs. Avery C. Hand, Travelers' president, left, and Mrs. B. L. Chase, president of the Round Table club.

Social Club Welcomes Seven New Pledges

Delta Sigma Zeta sorority members were invited to the home of Miss Maxene Williams, Highland avenue, Wednesday evening for the regular meeting. Miss Jenny Lou Gannaway was the associate hostess.

Seven pledges, Pauline Auler, Dorothy Bergman, Margaret Gage, Marion Little, Jean Kelly, Sally Russell, and Mary Alice Mitchell were accepted by the group. During the business session, in charge of the president, Miss Patty Palmer, the group voted to postpone the annual dance scheduled to be held during the Christmas holidays until Easter. Plans were completed for a holiday party for members of the sorority and their guests. Miss Marjorie Boals was selected to find a family for which the members will pack a Christmas basket.

Luncheon was served at a long table at the close of the evening.

CLUB HOSTESS.

Mrs. F. A. Callin, 32 Henry street, was hostess yesterday to 12 members of the Wednesday Art club. Needlework was the diversion of the afternoon, and Mrs. John A. Howard told of her western trip. A business meeting followed, and luncheon was served. Plans were made for a family dinner to be held at 6:30 p. m., Dec. 16 at the North Lake park pavilion.

ROUTINE MEETING.

Alfred M. Colby spoke on autographs and showed his collection of signatures of signers of the declaration of independence Tuesday when members of the Earnest Workers class of the Park Avenue Baptist church met with Rev. and Mrs. Hayes M. Braker, 68 Sherman avenue. Miss Donna Edwards was in charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Floyd Belpap led the devotions.

QUARTERLY MEET HELD.

The first quarterly meeting of the General Aid of First United Brethren church was conducted Wednesday in the church parlors, with Mrs. T. E. Swihart in charge of the devotional hour. The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 28, with Mrs. J. M. Etzweiler in charge of the program, and Mrs. Etzweiler and Mrs. H. M. Hout serving refreshments.

AT WOMEN'S CLUB.

Mrs. R. W. Tawse was invited as a guest to the luncheon meeting of the Nuova club Wednesday at the Women's club, when Mrs. J. C. Hartline was hostess. The luncheon was served at a long table centered with flowers. Later the members played bridge at two tables. Another meeting is scheduled for Dec. 26, the hostess to be announced later.

"GOOD SHOES SINCE 1912"

Variations On Soup Theme

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

When cool evenings set in, there is nothing so inviting and so comforting as a hot soup. Variation in soups, as in all other foods, is a delightful surprise, and fish soups provide the housewife with an opportunity of giving new zest to the family appetite.

Here's a swell fish soup, inexpensive, easy to prepare and delicious as well. Cut two pounds of fish into pieces. Cook with six cups of water, one bunch soup greens, one large onion and two bay leaves. Remove fish when cooked. Strain stock. Add one diced green pepper, six chopped mushrooms and one and one-half cups tomato juice. Brown two tablespoons butter and two tablespoons flour and add to soup. Add one-third of the fish, diced. Season to taste.

Cream of Fish Soup is rich and invigorating. Cut one pound fish into pieces. Add one quart cold water, four peppercorns and a bunch of soup greens. Bring to boil; simmer 40 minutes, strain. Add water to stock to make one quart. Melt three tablespoons butter, add three tablespoons flour. When boiling, stir in fish stock. Bring to boiling point. Add one cup green peas, two cups asparagus, cut into small lengths; one cup diced potato and seasoning to taste. When cooked, add a pint of hot milk. Serve.

English Fish Soup.

English Fish Soup is made with fish and vegetables. Cook one pound of fish trimmings in quart of water with one leek, carrot and onion. Bring to boil, skim. Simmer until all ingredients are tender enough to run through strainer. Season with one clove, one-fourth teaspoon mace, pepper and salt to taste. Add three tablespoons flour mixed with a little cold water or milk. Boil up. Add two or more cups of any cooked vegetable desired. When heated, add two cups hot milk, three tablespoons butter. One cup of tomato puree may be added with the vegetables.

To wind up this fishy discourse, here's a recipe for an extra swell way of serving shad roe. For a shad roe taken from a four-pound shad, use two tablespoons butter and add a mustard sauce made with a teaspoon of butter, one-half teaspoon dry English mustard, three tablespoons heavy cream, one-half teaspoon lemon juice, salt and pepper. Parboil and skin the roe. Then broil to broiling point with butter over it, browning on each side for about five minutes. Make the sauce by blending the butter and mustard together, then the cream. Simmer for 10 minutes, then add the lemon juice, salt and pepper. Serve over roe.

Marriage Meddlers By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"This is no good, Ede," Lillian said firmly. "You'll only make yourself ill, and we can't have anybody getting sick on our hands at this juncture. And you're taking this altogether too much to heart. That woman was lying in her teeth about most of the things she said about you, but I didn't have time to strong arm the truth out of her on that score; there were so many more vital things that had to be done. You've been 19 varieties of an anointed idiot, Ede, but you haven't been one third as wicked as you're painting yourself to be right now. So slam out of it, pronto, and tell me what you want to do."

Something in Lillian's little tirade went home, and Edith took her hands from before her face and dried her eyes while her convulsive sobs died away. Then she looked wanly at Lillian.

"I won't make you any more trouble," she said. "But, oh! could I go to Leila? I want Leila so."

Lillian considered a second this request of Edith's to go to the home of her only sister, Leila Durkee, wife of the friend, next to Harry Underwood, whose companionship Dicky valued most. Then she turned to me, and I realized that no particular sympathy for Edith was stirring in Lillian's heart, and that she meant to impress Edith with the fact that in my hands lay the opportunity to grant or deny her request.

Up to Madge.

"What do you think, Madge?" she said. "Can we go out of our way that much on our journey to the farm? It all rests with you."

I hesitated for the fraction of a second, not because I had any intention of denying Edith's request, or even of protesting it, but because I fully expected a torrent of invective from her, coupled with refusal to accept any favor whatever at my hands. But in-

Children Want to Be Santa Claus

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Whatever Santa Claus may have concealed for you parents in that sleigh of his, as the eight reindeer come galloping over the roof, nothing will be more precious than the gifts your children, after much thought and window-shopping, give you.

It's much more than a gift, the presents of these little folks. It reflects your children's love and the part you play in their lives. Very likely, they've been saving out of their allowances, no matter how small, for weeks and months.

From one safe hiding place to another, they have carted their little offerings on Christmas morning. They may look as if they had come through the war zone, but the rumpled tissue paper, the crooked bow of ribbon, and the little finger marks only make the gift more precious.

For a good many years, this column has received many letters from children, delightful in their unconscious humor, asking advice on gifts for mother or daddy. Mamie writes:

"Mother loves candy but she's scared of getting fat. Would a little box hurt?"

A boy of 12 wrote the following:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"My allowance is 25 cents a week and I can depend on Granny for about 15 cents extra if my neck is clean. I want to get mother and daddy one present for both—a magazine rack. It cost $3.95. I want to pay a quarter a week on the rack, and just keep Granny's 15 cents for myself. So I could get it all paid up before next year.

"Your sincere friend,

"Thomas."

"P. S. I have $2.80 in my bank. Would you advise me to pay cash for something and not run into debt?"

I advised "Thomas" to pay cash and not run into debt, suggesting a list of less expensive presents than the magazine rack.

Mary wondered if it would be mean to give her mother a waffle iron, because she liked waffles so well herself. Jimmy thought his father's neckties were too sad. Would it be all right to pick him out a lively one. But the prize letter came from Eileen. How could she buy a ticket for her mother to the Irish sweepstakes?

And one little girl, who had lost her mother only two months before Christmas, bought her father a music box that played "Home Sweet Home," because she couldn't bear to see him look so sad. It happened I knew this family personally, and the father made a gallant effort to have things more cheerful. And a beautiful companionship, between father and daughter, was the result.

When children write and ask me to tell them something nice for their parents, I suggest that dad better go along on the shopping expedition when the gift is for mother. And vice versa when it's father stockings that's to be filled. Mother's list includes silk stockings, initialed handkerchiefs, a corsage, stationery, toilet articles, gloves, bedroom slippers, something pretty for her dressing table, candy, dressing sacque, housecoat, costume jewelry, something in china or glassware, potted plants, a clock, something for the table, a manicure set, hairbrush, mirror and comb set (if not too expensive), a set of mixing bowls for the kitchen. Mother's list is well length endless.

Father's list might include a subscription to some magazine he enjoys, playing cards, and if mother will help out, a smoking jacket or lounging robe, a pair of military brushes, something for his desk, a brief case, some leather gadget for traveling, such as a leather collar box. It might be a book if you've heard him hope for one especially, a reading lamp, if not too expensive, house slippers, warm gloves, tobacco if you know his favorite brand, socks.

Readers of this column are welcome to recipe for "Poor Man's Fruit Cake." It costs about ten cents a pound to make, and if the instructions are strictly followed, and the cake not kept too long, like richer fruit cakes, it's very good. Please send a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope if you'd like a copy of this recipe. I'll be glad to send it.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay "The Authority on Authorities"

ODDS ARE AGAINST YOU

TAKING a certain amount of chance is the heart and soul of the game. But there is a big difference between a winning chance and a losing chance. The first kind, which all sound players like to take, involves a somewhat greater chance to gain than to suffer, whereas the losing chance is one on which the odds are against you.

South 3-Clubs, North 3-Hearts, South 3-No Trumps and North 4-Spades, quite a strong bid, since it consisted of rebidding the higher ranking suit. South thereupon invited slam with the Blackwood 4-No Trumps. North showed two Aces with 5-Hearts and South then asked about kings with 5-No Trumps. North showed one with 6-Diamonds and South then bid 7-No Trumps though he now knew that at least one king was missing.

This slam was made solely because the diamond king was in the proper place. It depended on an exactly even chance, whereas better than an even chance is needed to make a grand slam bid sound since it risks loss of both game and small slam.

In match point duplicate a grand slam may safely be bid on an exactly even chance but that is another story.

(Dealer: North, North-South vulnerable.)

Extra Hair Making Return

By MME. QUI VIVE.

Hairdressers who served the beauty clientele during the prehistoric period of the massive pompadour and the Merry Widow cartwheel hat tell interesting stories of the reactions of the pretty dearhearts to fashion changes.

The heavy trade saw great possibilities for the sale of demountable tresses. Added to the pump was a 38-inch switch, known as the coronation braid. It encircled the head. As if that were not enough this towering mass was topped with a crown of curls, called the Recamier. Made of first quality hair, fringe, switch and curls set the buyer back about $65. The hairgoods business was flying high.

No matter how much home-grown fuzz a woman had, she wore the factory products. Fashion led 'em by the nose those days.

Suddenly there was a reaction, due to the silliest rumors. A report flew around the world to the effect that false hair carried leprosy germs. It was a ridiculous idea, as cut hair sold to the trade is sterilized, boiled for hours. One heard about saleswomen who handled false hair being taken out of department stores in glass cages. It was the sensation of the day. And it killed the hairgoods business flat. Where the rumor started and why nobody knew. It was just one of those things.

Now that we're going back sartorially to that very period, wearing the nipped in bodices and the gored skirts of those days, there's a possibility that coiffures may follow the same trend.

At any rate, do not be surprised to find "extra hair pieces"—the trade bans the word false, because they aren't—at your favorite beauty shop.

You can wear a "halo," which is a string of rolls, held on tightly at the back with a piece of elastic. Grand when the big date comes and your hair is a messy scramble in need of curling. The attachable chignon may be a combination of narrow braid and curls, but you must have shoulder length hair to serve as an anchor.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Dec. 1.

A lively, enterprising, productive and eventful day is presaged by the very interesting planetary configurations. Business affairs, especially all pertaining to writings, publication, promotion, advertising, in fact, all intellectual and commercial pursuits, are under special impetus for rich returns. Of paramount importance is the recognition, friendship and solid co-operation of superiors and those in authority. Group organizations are likewise co-operative, although there may be some trivial annoyances.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a particularly lively, enterprising and progressive year, with much stirring of a nature to attract the interest and substantial support of superiors and those in influential positions. All pertaining to literary, advertising and promotional enterprises, as well as commercial matters, flourish. Group co-operation is promised, although there may be trivial anxieties in private and business contacts.

A child born on this day may have high intellectual abilities, with much versatility and ambition, in which it may have the endorsement and friendship of those in important places. It should be genial, kindly and popular.

Cleveland Appeals to U. S. for Expanded WPA Program

RELIEF CRISIS LAID TO CUT IN FEDERAL JOBSMayor, Commissioner Leave for Washington in Attempt to Get Work for Needy.(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND — City officials went to Washington today to plead that WPA expand its rolls in relief-harassed Cleveland.Shortage of money forced the city recently to remove all unmarried persons and childless couples from direct relief, reducing the rolls from 60,000 to about 46,000 dependents. The object of today's trip was to induce WPA to take up the slack.Mayor Harold H. Burton and Frank E. Bubna, the city's federal relations commissioner represented Cleveland. They expected
Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA administrator, also to attend the conference.Some of Cleveland's relief woes, Bubna declared, arose because WPA had 75,528 persons from Cuyahoga county (Cleveland and suburbs) on its projects this time last year and only 30,273 now.Furthermore, he declared, municipalities' matching requirements have been increased from the former 10 per cent to 25 per cent, making it more difficult to provide work. The 130-hour month requirement—longer hours than last year—also exhausts projects more quickly.Bubna said he and Burton also would urge relaxation of requirements that families come before single persons in making up WPA work lists."Single persons have been given a shabby deal," he declared. "They get just as hungry as the married ones.""The restriction is even encouraging unmarried couples to live together so one can get on WPA."Bubna said he had never made a survey of the number of such couples. He advocated giving unmarried indigent residents half as much work as married persons, and half pay. The city will try to set up some projects of that sort, if authorized.
WPA pay in the county now is $57.50 a month.Meanwhile, Charles L. Sherman. Seated in a restaurant, he saw a man attempt the old "my-money-fell-under-the-counter" trick, which failed to work. When the man left, Judge Anderson followed him to another restaurant where the same thing was tried again without success. The jurist intended to follow him to another place and expose him, but the man he was trailing gave him the "slip" and sped away in a car. It was fun while it lasted, the Judge said.While most miradors encounter more than their share of trouble dropping rabbits with a shotgun, 17-year-old Robert Pfahlor of Shelby does his hunting with bow and arrow. Hunting on the Hartman farm near Shelby this week, the Shelby high school senior saw only one rabbit, drew his bow back and dropped his racing target with a perfect shot. He learned all about bows and arrows as a Boy Scout.Edward James, newly elected treasurer of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association, had been dubbed "right hand" by fellow members today. It all was the result of James' flight test yesterday at Municipal airport for his solo license before C. R. Bullock of Cleveland, Civil Aeronautics Authority inspector. Well versed in air regulations, James apparently became a bit excited during the test and put the ship into a right turn at the crucial moment—the opposite of what it should have been. But he got his license anyway, along with Dr. Burr Hawthay, pathologist at General hospital, who also passed the exams.Honors came fast for Miss Jean Sowers of Bellville, a senior at Otterbein college, Westerville. Last week Miss Sowers was one of the college students selected in the 1939-40 issue of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," and this week she was named top honor student among the college's 430 students as the mid-semester grades were announced. Miss Sowers had an average of 3.71. Also on the honor roll was Miss Betty Green, of Mansfield, a sophomore, whose average was 3.22.

BACK AT JOBSAssembly Lines at Chrysler Plants, Idle 2 Months, Start Operations Again.(By United Press)
DETROIT—Assembly lines motionless in Chrysler Corporation factories for nearly two months were rolling again today.Although production was in low gear while parts plants rushed out new supplies, automobile manufacturing was started by workers who returned to the factories under a new union contract with their employer.Many of the 60,000 who had been made idle by the dispute had not been called back, but Chrysler officials said they would be as soon as production gained momentum.Eight locals of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) last night almost unanimously ratified the terms of the new contract over which negotiators had worked for 54 days.The contract will be signed as soon as ratification is complete.
Of the main demands studied by negotiators for the past seven weeks, the union was granted: 1.
Improved grievance procedure; 2.
General hourly wage increases of three cents; 3. reinstatement of 125 men discharged for disciplinary reasons when the strike began.The management refused to give the UAW-CIO a voice in fixing production schedules, a union shop or vacations with pay.

Seek Bricker's Post; Young
Gets 2 Sets of Petitions.(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS — Former Atty.
Gen. Herbert S. Duffy announced today his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at next May's primary.At the same time the secretary of state's office said that former congressman-at-large Stephen M.
Young of Cleveland already had obtained nomination petitions either for the democratic nomination for U. S. senator or congressman-at-large.Duffy said his nominating petitions would be placed in circulation within a few days.In his request for nominating petitions, Young said he expected to be a candidate "either for U. S. senator or congressman-at-large."Duffy served one term as attorney general, losing bid for re-election to Thomas J. Herbert in the republican landslide last year.
He had been renominated without opposition.Young, serving his second term as congressman-at-large, took time out in 1936 to oppose Martin L. Davey, but the governor won renomination for a second term.
This year, Young led a field of three candidates for the nomination for congress-at-large, but like Herbert was swamped by Republican votes.Should U. S. Sen. Vic Donaher, seek re-nomination, which many politicians expect, Young is expected to forego that office and enter again for congress-at-large.
Duffy is the first democrat to enter his candidacy for governor, but before the final late for filing nomination petitions rolls around next spring, a goodly field is anticipated.Former Governor Davey has not renounced his right to run again and may be in the field if the general political winds look favorable.Former Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer, who defeated Davey for a third term nomination, but lost to Gov. John W. Bricker in the November balloting, also may be in the race.Other Democratic possibilities include former Secretary of State William J. Kennedy, who went down in his bid for a second term before the Republican avalanche.
There also have been rumors that former Gov. George White of Marietta may try a comeback, after having served two terms in the executive office.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Former G-Man, Kansas City Police Chief, Keeps Corruption at Low Ebb

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I interrupted my series of pieces on the delousing of Kansas City to drop in two from Chicago proving that Willie Bioff, the hoodlum labor dictator of the amusement industry, is a convicted pander who still owes all but eight days of a sentence of six months in Chicago on a specific charge of receiving from a woman inmate of a brothel the sum of $29 earned by prostitution.The Bioff matter was urgent only because I was afraid someone else might stumble onto the facts after I had dug them out of the files and court records and scoop me on my own piece. As to Kansas City, I can report that the Pendergast gang is absolutely discredited and that the now chief of police, Lear B. Reed, a former G-man of the young King Brady type, is so tough that even newspaper reporters can't get away with traffic violations.Reed is a Georgia man, about 40 years old, one of the new type lawyer-cops, and is hell on graft and corruption.In the income tax case against Higgins, which resulted in a term of two years in Leavenworth penitentiary, Maurice Milligan, the federal district attorney, said he had evidence to show that Otto had been receiving $10,000 a month from Charles V. Carroll, the unnaturalized Sicilian who had general charge of the administration of underworld affairs.It was no wonder that some men so hard up and beset with petty temptations took a few dollars here and there, especially in view of the rotten example. However, the ordinary cop had little chance to graft for himself, because the gamblers, brothel keepers and all were doing business with Carroll; who did business with Higgins.
The underworld didn't have to take any nonsense from common policemen.Only last week Reed made all the remaining members of Pendergast's force swear to questionnaires stating exactly how much money was extorted from their pay for the old man's campaign funds, club dues and freewill offerings.The amounts ranged between $50 and $350 a year. The cops are glad to be protected against these thievings from their pay, and the morale of the department is up for other reasons, too. They can be men now, beholden to no dirty criminal or precinct grafter.McElroy had a trick emergency fund which is still being investigated. He would just write money over into his emergency fund and stand on his synthetic reputation for homespun frugality in city affairs when questions were raised.
Of the $8,000,000 which passed through this fund much, undoubtedly, was spent for legitimate purposes, but McElroy got credit for great personal philanthropy by contributing big hunks to charities out of the emergency pot.I haven't told the whole story, but I think most of it has been cleaned up. However, in justice to Orville S. McPherson, the new owner of the Journal-Post, it should be said that after he took hold in September, 1933, this paper shook off its indifference and gave the Kansas City Star robust competition in the fight to smash Pen-dergast and clean up the mess.Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Brightest eyes in town are not Baby Sandy's or Shirley Temple's—but Mme. Maria Ouspenskaya's.
... She's a little lady who can act rings around the best of the locals.The tree-house for "Swiss Family Robinson," built on a sound-stage, couldn't be cozier—but the steep steps, practically straight up, were built for a Joan Davis tumble. and she isn't in the cast.What was that about players not thinking of their feet when negotiating stairways? It would be suicide here.Sight of the week: Joan Bennett doing a hot rumba, with bumps, for "House Across the Bay."Unhappy thought: If Greer Garson is miscast as badly again it will be "Greer Garson remember?"
instead of Greer Garson in "Remember?" Or, as I may have mentioned, Goodbye, Mr. Chips.Very unhappy thought: Why don't the blubs about Goldwyn as a "star-maker" ever mention Anna Sten?Food for thought: Julie Heron, who years ago in the early Gloria Swanson era was trying to be a movie glammer gal, decided it wasn't for her. ... She became a set-dresser instead—the only woman in town who does that job....
The other day I saw her going happily about her work on a set which boasted the presence of several ex-stars, going not so happily if bravely about their work as background for today's stars. ...
Julie must sing silent paens of thanksgiving every night that she never became a star—or an ex-star.Steffi Duna, tired of "repeating herself" in pictures, is going to New York to retrieve her nationality. ... She's Hungarian-born, but plays only Mexican or Spanish girls in films. ... She has a date for dancing on the St. Regis roof, hopes to get a break on the stage, and then come back to films as Steffi Duna, actress. ...
Hollywood's recent preview trek —into the wilds of South Los Angeles—indicates a tendency to consolidate the neighborhood front instead of devoting all the ballyhoo to far-away sectors. ... Occasion this time was solemn, gala, whooptastic dedication of a new movie house, built on a site which a few months ago was alfalfa acreage.
... One of the points vaunted by the house is its marquee, largest in Southern California—and doubtless built in anticipation of titles like "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep," "Heaven With a Barbed Fence," and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." ...
But what really will floor the unforewarned visitor is the men's room, where certain intimate plumbing fixtures are (for sanitation's sake, they say) adorned with garlands of blue neon light. ...
"Once in a Lifetime" didn't think of that!
From the program notes of "Another Thin Man": "There was an odd variation of the usual Hollywood reunion on the sets when the mother of Baby Poulsen met William Powell. Eight years ago the mother, then Sonia Turney, a U. S. C. student, tripped on the stairs at the Coconut Grove and was saved from a fall by the star.

Zacharias KO's Foe In Second

Glover, Carbetta and McKinley Also Triumph on Friendly House Amateur Card.

By CHARLES MARTIN SHOULD Jake Zacharias retire from ring activity today there's one thing he'll never have to worry about—his popularity among Mansfield fans.

Approximately 325 spectators—a capacity gathering—filled out of the Friendly House last night with one thought stamped vividly in their minds—that Zacharias is one of the finest middleweights in Ohio amateur circles.

Zacharias, who has been improving by leaps and bounds, blossomed out with one of the greatest performances of his career in stopping Mickey McGuire, 160, of Columbus, in the five-round feature bout in the Friendly House winter show.

But Zacharias was not the only settlement simon pure to win one-sided victories.

Paul Carbetta, North Central Ohio flyweight champion, who made his debut in the bantam-weight division, Beauford Glover, 140, and Al Sauer, 166, upheld the Friendly House prestige in fine style.

In another bout, Ernie McKinley met Norbert Koble of Fremont in a feud battle and the crack Ashland featherweight had the Fremont youngster hanging on the ropes in the third round.

The Gill brothers, Dan and Sam, a couple of tow-headed whirlwinds from Fremont, defeated Charles Hodge and Larry Bradford, Capital city boxers. Sam, a heavyweight, slapped Bradford all over the ring with a stinging right. Carl Erchenbergher, 133, of Fremont, defeated Gene Wertman, 133, of Ashland, in the opening bout of the evening.

Carbetta demonstrated that he was ready to climb out of the 112-pound class by stopping George Ferguson, 115, of Columbus, in one minute and 45 seconds of the third round. His knockout was the first scored on the eight-bout card.

Then Glover, four pounds over his best fighting weight, stepped out to polish off Carl Hughes, 140, in one minute and 40 seconds of the third round. Glover, who tipped the Toledo at 140, still possesses dynamite in either fist.

Al Sauer, 166, the other leather slugger from the settlement stable, turned in the fourth win by taking a decision from Phil Huss, 173, of Fremont.

It looked for a while like Zacharias was going to have his hands full. McGuire, an impressive-looking youth, tore out of his corner like a tornado at the bell and hammered Zacharias with a flock of lefts and rights.

Zacharias weathered the storm and soon slowed up the Columbus fighter with a sizzling right. McGuire ran into that lightning right a number of times and dropped to his knees twice.

McGuire led with a right to open the second heat and that was his error. Zacharias flipped in a left, let loose a right and McGuire kissed the canvas.

All four Friendly House lads put up spectacular battles, with Carbetta coming to the front for a large share of the honors. Sauer gave the fans a lot of action in winning the unanimous decision of the judges. Paul Eliot, Jess Wilford and Paul Griffith of Mansfield. John Eichinger handled the referee's assignment in fine style. Earl Culp was the timekeeper.

Don Scott Wins Back Position on Third Team; Cafego, Kinnick, Harmon, Kimbrough Picked.

By HARRY FERGUSON NEW YORK (U.P.)—The United Press presents today its 1939 All-America football team, the best man at each position out of the thousands who played on college gridsiron this season.

The 11 players are distributed as follows: Midwest, four; South, three; East, two; Southwest, one; Far West, one.

In an attempt to cover every team in every section of the country, the United Press this year invited sports editors of all United Press newspapers to vote. In addition, the opinion of selected coaches was sought and United Press sports writers sent in ballots.

The statue of Lincoln and the impressive Lincoln Memorial are used dramatically, as a part of the story. The film provides a sight-seeing tour of the capital.

Adult Entertainment. "Society Lawyer" is a story of crime, high society, murder and romance blended together for adult entertainment. The picture is a re-make of an earlier film "Penthouse" in which Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy were starred. The new version is enacted by Walter Pidgeon, Virginia Bruce, Lee Bowman and Eduardo Cienfuegos. The picture will be shown at the Majestic tomorrow and Friday, along with "Riders of the Sage."

Problem Drama. The problems of the youth of today and the lack of parental responsibility is the theme of "Parents on Trial," one of the two pictures being shown at the Park theater. Jean Parker and Johnny Downs are the youthful leads in the problem drama. Boris Karloff in "The Man They Could Not Hang," a dramatic story of a man's revenge on the jurors who condemned him to death is the second film.
